Lifegroup Questions

Iain Hesketh

Read Psalm 67

- What did you make of Iain's opening statement, "We need to make sure we are followers of Jesus before we can be leaders for Jesus"?
- How can we be sure we are following him? Do you think we are ever in danger of losing sight of our purpose (why we do what we do)? What are the warning signs of this?
- Do you agree with Spurgeon's statement, "Every Christian is either a missionary or an imposter"? Why/why not?
- Iain said, "When we understand the grace of God it irradiates entitlement." What are some of the dangers of being entitled?
- Iain stated, "The call of discipleship is to marry what we say with what we do." How good are you at doing this? When do you find it most difficult?
- Iain argued, "We are not called to be relevant, we are called to be distinct." Is this true? In what ways are we called to be distinct?
- Do you agree with John Piper's statement, "Mission exists because worship doesn't"? What do you think he meant? How big of a role does worship play in your life?
- What did you make of Iain's closing statement, "If you're waiting for God to do something, he might be waiting for you." Do you think we sometimes miss opportunities because we're waiting for God to move?
